

About Us

We are administrator, owner and supervisor of the Shortcutkey.Net assignment. The web site is maintained as a hobby other than my day-time activity. The authentic internet site released in Aug 2017 to categorize multiple Firefox Keyboard Shortcuts. After launching, I quite a lot forgot about it till I checked the user stats some years later. I figured that a number of the pages got loads of latest and repeat traffic and that the site is getting used as a Shortcut Reference through many. I determined in Aug 2017 to make some thing more significant out of it and rebuilt it conceptually from scratch. It took me till past due Aug 2017 to rework the concept, facts model, and backend processing to position it heading in the right direction for the right course.
